

St. Stephen's College No Longer Under Church Rule, Name Changed

Dr. Butler Makes Statement Wednesday That New Name Will Be Bard College in Honor of Founder—May Be Reverted to New American College "Tree"—To Add to Faculty.

According to an announcement Wednesday by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, Protestant Episcopal Church, the name of the college has been changed and will be known in the future as Bard College, in honor of John Bard, who founded it 75 years ago as a church institution.

St. Stephen's College became affiliated with Columbia University in 1928. In Wednesday's statement it was explained that through changes in the charter, made recently by the board of trustees and sanctioned by the legislature, the college had become "Episcopal by tradition and influence rather than by control" and the church would have no voice on the board "by appropriate elected representatives rather than by majority representation." Further, the announcement stated, this minority would be charged under the charter "with the maintenance of the primary religious tradition of the college," and that "while the preparation of young men for the ministry is to be retained as an integral and important part of the work of the college, emphasis will be placed upon the broader religious purposes of the institution."

Financial Difficulties

St. Stephen's ran into financial difficulties soon after, under the then president, Bernard Idings Bell, it attempted to broaden its intellectual resources by affiliating with Columbia. For some time its financial condition was in doubt. This suspended condition of finances brought about in March, 1933, the resignation of Dr. Bell, who was at that time, under designation by Columbia, warden of the college. Dr. Bell's period of service had continued for 14 years.

Policy Under Dr. Bell

Under Dr. Bell's guidance the college developed policies of pronounced liberalism. Under the professorship of Dr. Lyford P. Edwards, national known sociologist, a course of social science was instituted which gained the college wide publicity. In 1927 it abandoned restrictions which limited its enrollment to Christians and in 1929 inaugurated a course to cover the field of all religions, with lectures by representatives of different faiths. Students preparing for the ministry since about 1918 had represented only about one-third of the entire body.

The college during Dr. Bell's years became noted for its cultivation of a free academic atmosphere and for having introduced a tutorial system similar to that of English universities. Dr. Bell minced no words in criticizing other colleges for turning out "smooth-running robots" by mass production.

Future Policies

Yesterday's announcement indicated that the adoption of the curriculum to individual needs would be continued with more ample funds, and Dr. Butler said the program "may be the beginning of a very extraordinary development in the history of American college education."

The Carnegie Corporation has made a grant of $10,000 and further financial aid will be sought. Seven new members of the faculty will be appointed.

Students to Map Course

Prof. Donald G. Tewksbury, of Teacher's College, who succeeded Dr. Bell as warden, said that the new program would encourage the student to build his own curriculum around his talents, needs and purposes. This will be based on three fundamental principles. First, the student's approach to his college work should be made through individual abilities, interests and purposes which he has discovered and demonstrated during the years of his previous educational experience. Secondly, these motivating elements in the life of the individual should be the center around which he should proceed to build his own curriculum. Thirdly, these fundamental principles thus followed should result in a broad cultural outlook.

Brand Whitlock, Former U. S. Ambassador To Belgium, Dead

Diplomat, Aged 65 Years, Dies In Cannes, France. Hospital Following Operation—Funeral Will Be Held Saturday and Burial Will Be In Cannes—During World War Was Called "Protective Minister."

Cannes, May 24 (AP).—Brand Whitlock, former United States ambassador to Belgium, died here today.

Whitlock, who was 65 years old, died at noon.

He had been ill for some months. He was taken to the Sunnybank English-American Hospital March 5 and underwent a serious bladder operation at that time.

He had been improving slowly and friends said they thought he was on the way to recovery.

A second operation was performed yesterday for the bladder ailment and the famous diplomat appeared afterward to be doing excellently. However, today his heart failed.

Mrs. Whitlock was with him throughout his illness and beside him when he died.

Funeral services will be Saturday at Holy Trinity Church and the burial will be in Cannes.

While these plans are incomplete, it was expected that the Belgian government will be represented.

Mrs. Whitlock said, after her husband's death:

"Mr. Whitlock underwent a second operation and appeared to be doing excellently but, unfortunately,

Barrow Tipster to Get $2,500 Posted Reward

Mothers of Slain Criminals are Inconsolable—Governor Congratulates Officers—Relatives of Dead are Relieved.

Arcadia, La., May 24 (AP).—Society wrote "Finis" today to the criminal careers of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker—But two mothers mourned the loss of a wayward son and daughter.

Governor O. K. Allen of Louisiana congratulated the six officers who ambushed and killed Barrow and his quick-shooting woman companion yesterday. A coroner's inquest held the officers did their duty.

The bodies of Barrow and Bonnie Parker—riddled with bullets—were laid out in Dallas awaiting burial tomorrow.

The prayer of the mother of Barrow, ruthless killer, that she might see her son once more alive was not fulfilled as officers, led by the relentless manhunter, Frank Hamer, former Texas ranger, put an end to his bloody trail.

The mother of Bonnie Parker fainted when told of the death of her daughter. She stood in a daze before the bier of Bonnie.

While the two mothers were inconsolable, other relatives and friends of the two slain bandits expressed relief at their end. Most of them agreed that their deaths by officers' gunfire were better than being taken alive.

Barrow and his cigar smoking companion were brought down by a tip to officers from an erstwhile friend, who lured them into a trap. The pair thought they were going to join friends when they were suddenly attacked and riddled with fifty bullets before they could raise their guns a few miles south of here. This tipster will receive $2,500 reward offered for the man and woman bandits "dead or alive."

Old Guard Republican Guardsmen Use Tear Leaders Opposed by Gas Bombs to Disperse Progressive Faction Toledo's Strikers

Former U. S. District Attorney Tattle Issues Direct Challenge to Ogden Mills—Regard Tattle's Remarks as Keynote of the Party Fight.

New York, May 24 (AP).—Tentative gestures on the part of old guard Republican leaders, under the leadership of Ogden Mills, to make New York state a testing ground for the new deal in the congressional elections this fall, were met with a distinct snub today by the progressive faction of the state organization.

Charles H. Tuttle, former United States district attorney and Republican gubernatorial candidate, was credited with voicing the attitude of the progressive faction and the opinion of W. Kingsland Macy, state chairman, in an address here last night before the Fifteenth Assembly District Club.

On top of Tuttle's direct challenge to the former secretary of the treasury in the Hoover cabinet, it became known that Macy pointedly absented himself Tuesday night from a meeting of the Republican Builders Organization when Mills renewed his attack on the "revolutionary" aspects of the Roosevelt administration.

Macy, who has fought consistently against "special privilege" in the party and to oust the "invisible control" of utilities in the state government, demands that the fall campaign point toward election of a Republican governor or "progressive" and "independent" philosophy.

The congressional fight, he believes, must be secondary, together with the implied test of the Roosevelt new deal entailed in the congressional campaigns.

The state chairman is determined to subordinate alleged old guard attempts for a political test of 1936 presidential prospects to his carefully waged campaign against utilities and alleged reactionary elements in his own organization.

Tuttle last night sounded what many regard to be the keynote of this fight, directly answering Mills with the assertion that "the bill of rights was never intended to be a legalistic formula."

"I do not believe," Tuttle said, "that the great body of our party or the mass of the people would accept a program or welcome a leadership which would proceed as if nothing had happened and nothing had been revealed between the years 1929 and 1932."

"Nor do I believe that any issue can be isolated and carried to success which is empty of any constructive program for the betterment of the working man, the farmer and the average citizen," he implied. In the name of a defense of liberty, implies restoration of the chaotic individualism which spiraled down to the greatest economic smash in our history."

Mills attacked the new deal at White Plains last Saturday, when he accused the Democratic administration with disguising under the new deal measures directed toward government control of industry and regimentation of the people.

He charged the President with "veracity" and a revolutionary process "that must end in the destruction of individual liberty."

Old Guard elements in New York state, although winning the state over Macy in organizing the state Assembly in the last session, have shown a willingness to rest on their laurels in the face of Macy's continued attack, which was climaxed in the expose of utilities connections of Senator Warren Thayer.

Police Chief To Have Hearing on Charges

Syracuse, N. Y., May 24 (AP).—A long simmering controversy between Syracuse's 65-year-old police chief, Martin L. Cadin, and his younger mayor, Roland B. Marvin, had reached a climax today as the veteran official prepared to answer at a hearing May 31 charges of "general incompetency, insubordination and delinquency."

The mayor was forced to set a hearing on the charges he preferred yesterday after Cadin, head of the department for 28 years, refused demands for immediate resignation.

Mayor Marvin only a year ago supported a movement to have Cadin, nearing the retirement age fixed by law, continued in office. This was successful on March 17, 1933, when the common council passed the necessary legislation.

The controversy had its first open break January 9 when Mayor Marvin wrote the chief that "too many thefts, robberies and holdups have been committed in this town without the perpetrators being apprehended."

Chief Cadin, acting under instructions from the mayor, immediately ordered all police bureaus to tighten up. Mayor Marvin replied that "the chief had responded splendidly."

Three months later the mayor wrote Cadin again, complaining of crime conditions.

"If you have imagined any fetters on your hands," the mayor wrote, "this communication should serve to dissolve them satisfactorily. The future depends on you."

Pratt Funeral Today Was Largely Attended

Pratt, who died at the Kingston Hospital Monday evening following an automobile accident that afternoon, was held from the late home in Highland at 2:30 this afternoon. A crowd of friends that filled the home and overflowed onto the lawn gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to their departed friend and associate.

There was a very large display of floral tributes, representing former friends and business and political associates from many places, including Washington and New York city.

Funeral services were in charge of the Rev. D. S. Haynes, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased was a member, assisted by the Rev. Herbert Killinger, pastor of the Methodist Church.

Interment was in the family plot in Highland cemetery. Bearers were Solomon G. Carpenter, J. W. Feeter, Loren Schantz, Henry Ellinger, LeGrand Haviland and Charles DuBois.

United States, Britain and Japan Consider Pre-Conference Talks

Unofficial Understanding Is That Overtures on Subject Were Made by British and Japanese as Result of Tokyo Stand on 5-5-3 Naval Ratio Established at Two Previous Conferences—U. S. Ready To Meet Japanese Action in Pacific.

Washington, May 24 (AP).—The United States, Great Britain and Japan were said authoritatively today to be engaged in preliminary conversations concerning the feasibility of holding discussions on naval questions prior to the Washington naval conference next year.

William Phillips, undersecretary of state, declined any official comment on the discussions, but it was understood the first overtures for an exploratory survey of naval questions came from Great Britain and Japan.

Japan, through official spokesmen, has announced on numerous occasions that she would demand a revision of the present five-five-three naval ratio established at the London and Washington conferences.

Japanese officials also have suggested that a preliminary discussion between the three nations on questions especially pertaining to the Pacific would go a long way toward clearing the atmosphere for the general conference.

Secretary Swanson said yesterday at his press conference that the United States would consider extending its naval bases in the Pacific if the Japanese insisted on increasing the ratio of their navy to that of this country.

Three-Cornered Plan Is London Talk About June 15 Debt Payment

War Debts, Currency Stabilization and Anglo-American Trade Linked in Comment Today—Official Quarters Give "Fish Eye" to Inquiries.

London, May 24 (AP).—War debts, currency stabilization, and Anglo-American trade were linked in London comment today as a three-sided settlement which Great Britain and the United States may have under consideration for clearing the board of the outstanding problems between them in connection with the June 15 debt installment.

Official quarters would neither confirm nor deny that these three problems had been linked by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador to Washington, in his recent conversation with President Roosevelt.

Political observers recognize, however, that since the three were so interlaced, it might be to the advantage of both Great Britain and the United States to settle all of them at the same time.

Further indications that Great Britain has mapped out in general the new course it may take in the war debts negotiations were seen in an official hint that while there may be some connection between what President Roosevelt says in his debate message to Congress than what Great Britain finally does this connection will not be "rigid."

Mrs. Qualtrier, who occupies a house on the Malakoff property, testified that the latter stood by his car, talking to her at the time the raid was staged. Malakoff had claimed that he had been down to the brickyard and returning stopped at Mrs. Qualtrier's to ask regarding some tomato plants.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

Bull vs. Officer: Draw.

Rumson, N. J.—Patrolman William Zarr believes in taking the bull by the horns—but when he did just that, he found himself also on the horns of a dilemma.

After seizing a stray bull by the horns, the officer was unable to throw the animal. He also knew, from the bull's behavior, that it would be unhealthy to let go.

So for half an hour, officer and bull stood locked in the road, alternately wrestling and glaring. The caretaker of the estate from which the bull had escaped finally arrived and between them the two men returned the bull to its pasture.

For Husbands Only!

Portland, Ore.—The secret of how he concealed money from his wife was divulged in federal court by Thomas David, Warm Springs Indian, who faced parole revocation. "She searched me, but she didn't find it," he said, "because I had on two pairs of pants and the money was in the bottom pair."

Double Knot.

Durham, England—Twice married on the same day and in the same church—was the experience of Miss Lily Metcalf and George Turnbull.

Lost By a Knee.

Westchester, Pa.—The 1-man jury was willing and opposing attorneys were not averse, but Judge J. F. E. Hause refused to permit pretty Josephine Brown to show her knees as evidence.

So William Lancaster, who was depending on the knees as evidence of a motor crash, lost his damage suit.

Trundling a truck, he counted the number of trips and figured out the mileage after he finished the job.

Subway Spring Cleaning.

Rochester, N. Y.—Spring cleaning in the subway that follows the course of the old Erie canal through the city brought to light more than 1,000 pounds of smoked meat.

The meat had been issued to welfare recipients during the winter, and thrown away. So now every applicant at the food depot will be asked if he wants smoked meat before it is given to him.

Continuing Drive Against Bootlegger

Albany, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—State police and sheriffs have made several hundred arrests in the drive urged by Governor Lehman and the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board against bootleggers, records of the board and police offices showed today.

One official said bootleggers were being "rounded up in great shape" although it was too early to say what effect the drive has had on the flow of bootleg liquor since repeal. In some cases, reports showed, legitimate establishments had been found making their own gin and selling it from bottles bearing the label of one of the popular brands.

Some bootleg liquor was said by one enforcement official to have crept into licensed liquor stores for sale to unsuspecting individuals. These instances were reported to be rare.

Darrow Board Tries To Complete its Work

Washington, May 24 (AP).—Following between friends and foes of NRA went mostly on today as Charles Darrow's national review board sought to surmount internal dissension and wind up its work.

Darrow and Hugh S. Johnson, opponents in a first-class denunciation match three days ago, took a leisurely automobile drive together late yesterday, but about all that could be learned of their conversation was that it dealt with historical topics.

A furious attack from organized labor, labeling the Darrow board's report "a disservice to the nation and its citizens in a time of great economic stress," added to the board's troubles as it tackled the preparation of its second report regarding small business and the NRA codes.

The Darrow group, already pointed for extinction by President Roosevelt at the end of the month, also suffered an internal explosion which threatened for a time to cause its immediate dissolution.

William O. Thompson, a member of the board, accused Lowell Mason, the board's counsel, of tampering with the records. One taking led to another, resulting in an abrogation of speaking terms among several members of the board.

Senator Nye (R-ND), a supporter of Darrow, fired another shaft at the NRA. After demanding that Congress may in session until existing "abuses" are corrected, he asserted he intended to take the Senate floor daily on this subject.

RECTAL GIVEN AT ACCORD BY THE SCHWARTZ PUPILS

Accord, May 24.—The pupils of Roger Baer Schwartz from Kingston and Accord gave a very pleasing recital Wednesday evening at the Rochester Dutch Reformed Church. Accord. About 100 interested parents and friends assembled at the church for the recital.

The accuracy and confidence with which the children of both the junior and senior classes performed was the reward of most careful training. The first half of the program took in the classical arrangements. The second half, the semi-classicals, thus giving the pupils an opportunity to display the value of their training.

At intermission the Rev. Mr. Scholten gave a brief and interesting talk on the history and development of music up to the present time. Mr. Scholten extended a hearty thanks to Mr. Schwartz and the pupils for a very pleasant evening. At the close of the program refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

RACE FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL HONORS

Two Missouri Men Stage an Interesting Contest.

St. Louis, Mo.—An unheralded endurance race that has been under way for many years, continues weekly in two different sections of Missouri.

At Mexico, Mo., David Owen is reported to be trailing by ten years and J. A. Hendry of St. Louis claims to be the record holder and hopes to keep his ten-year advantage over Owen.

The race is for the world's championship Sunday school attendance title.

When Owen recently passed his fortieth successive year of attendance at Sunday school without a miss it developed that he had a competitor with a 50-year record.

Hendry, seventy-eight years old, says he has credentials to prove that he hasn't missed a Sunday school for half a century. "I'm going to stretch it as near the one hundred mark as I can," he said.

Hendry, a salesman, said he attended Sunday schools in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Arkansas, and Kansas.

"I started regular attendance at Sunday school in Randolph county, Georgia," Hendry said. "I went to a revival meeting and heard an old preacher explain the Bible. He sure knew what he was talking about, so I decided that it would be a good thing for me to go to Sunday school."

Hendry said he was given a certificate from the Georgia church and he has kept every certificate at every church where he has attended.

"I'm not afraid of losing my record unless I get sick or die," Hendry said. "Because, I'm sure not going to quit now that I've started on my second fifty years."

Reports from Mexico indicate that Owen is determined to continue the race despite his ten-year handicap. "After attending Sunday school for forty years, a ten-year handicap doesn't mean a great deal," Owen said. "I'm just going to keep right on going to Sunday school every week, and maybe I'll set the record in the long run."

"It is too late now to give up after forty years."

Columbus Found Pacific Ocean, Says Frenchman

Paris.—Columbus made five voyages to the Americas and saw the Pacific ocean long before Balboa.

This is the opinion of Maurice Privat, author and biographer, who has written a book, "The Prodigious Adventures of Christopher Columbus," refuting much historically accepted Colombiana.

The man erroneously known as Christopher Columbus probably was called Juan Colon and was of Maltese origin, according to Privat.

An aristocrat by birth, a Franciscan layman, like Queen Isabella, and a prolific and brilliant writer in Castilian, Columbus, or Colon, was a naval engineer, a mathematician and a seer, and, contrary to historically accepted legend, his adventures were more planned than fortuitous.

"He knew where he was going when he was on his way," said Privat. "This is because he was one of history's greatest navigators and an astronomer and astrologist of first rank in his day."

Columbus allowed the legend to take root that he was of Genoese origin, according to Privat.

"His chief aim was not to discover the Grand Khan's realms or go to India, but to find the source of Solomon's treasure, which undoubtedly was somewhere in Central America," continued M. Privat. "And it was important to him, for the sake of his delicate and dangerous mission to hide his identity."

Ohio Boys Plan Three-Year Trip Around World

Camden, Maine.—Three Toledo (Ohio) youths have purchased the sloop Nellie York and within a few weeks expect to sail on a three-year cruise.

The amateur sailors, Don C. Woodley, William Stechakutka, and John A. Miehle, are college graduates. They plan to sail down the Atlantic coast, through the Panama canal, and across the Pacific.

The Nellie York is being fitted out here in preparation for the cruise.

New York.—A moment after he had told his congregation not to pity the dead because "they are home," Rev. Oliver Paul Barnhill dropped dead in Fordham Manor Reformed church.

Women's Painting Is Just Old Custom

London.—The modern art of making-up women's faces is just an old Egyptian custom.

Figments of the facial epidermis was no secret to the women who lived 4,000 years ago in the Babylonian city of Ur of the Chaldees.

Archaeologists have discovered jars of cosmetics and powders of various shades, according to G. Leonard Woolley, who has just returned here from his excavations on the site of the ancient city.

French Play Soviet Against the League

Paris, May 24 (AP).—France is holding out for Russia's entrance to the League of Nations. It was disclosed today, before accepting a Soviet proposal of mutual assistance pact for the pacification of Europe.

Bringing the Soviets into the league fold in the hope of forcing Germany to return to Geneva as "improvement" is sought in certain French quarters where Germany's inclusion in the suggested pact is considered essential.

The theory regarding Germany is that it would be preferable to have the Nazis in an association where they could be watched rather than to isolate Germany in the midst of powers linked by assurances of mutual assistance in the event of hostilities.

Here's How You'd Borrow Money Under New Home Loan Proposal

By CARL C. CRAMER

Washington (P).—John Smith wants to build two additional rooms to his house at a total cost of $2,000.

Paul Jones has his eye on a suburban lot where he would like to build his own home at a cost of maybe $25,000.

George Brown has in mind an old-fashioned residence that would cost $20,000 to moderate.

John Smith, Paul Jones and George Brown must borrow money to carry out their plans, and because lenders are very cautious, they are making time until "money loosens up" and meanwhile the carpenters, plumbers, bath tub manufacturers and real estate men with whom they could do business may be lacking work.

If He's Good Risk

John Smith has nothing but his personal note to offer. Paul Jones would have to borrow $20,000 and that would mean putting a first and second mortgage on his new property and at the present time second mortgage money is scarce. George Brown is in about the same fix. It is into this situation that the federal government, if congress accepts the housing and mortgage insurance scheme proposed by President Roosevelt, would step.

Here is how the scheme would work for John Smith:

He would go to his bank, trust company, personal finance company, mortgage company, building and loan association to borrow the $2,000 on his note. He might need only $200, but $2,000 would be the most he could borrow.

The bank or finance company then would apply to the Home Credit Insurance Corporation, which would be set up with a capital of $200,000,000, to have its loan to Smith insured. The corporation would investigate and if it found John Smith a "good risk", would agree to stand good for 20 per cent, or $400, of the loan.

Terms of the loans the government would insure would be left to the decision of the corporation, but officials have indicated standard terms probably would be interest at 5 per cent, with one per cent added for the insurance fund from which losses would be made good. The time of the loan probably would not exceed five years, with an "insurance" feature added to permit John Smith to pay off his $2,000 loan in monthly payments of about $40 for the first year, and less as the principal was paid off. The government would insure this type of loans made up to January 1, 1935.

Second Mortgage Unnecessary

Paul Jones, with $5,000 of his own money, would borrow the remaining $20,000 from his bank on a first mortgage against his newly acquired property. Jones might intend to build a more modest home costing perhaps only $4,000, but $20,000 would be the most the government would insure, and the mortgage that would not insure a mortgage that was more than 80 per cent of the assessed valuation of the property. Thus Paul Jones would not have to carry a second mortgage, with its higher interest rate and high renewal fees.

Terms of these loans, too, would be left to later decision by the corporation, but they would be on long-term mortgages, probably to be amortized in 20 years, at as low an interest rate as possible and with installment features.

George Brown would be treated just about the same as Paul Jones, except that Brown could get an insured mortgage for only 50 per cent of the appraised value of his existing property.

Mare Mothers Calm

Marysville, Ca. (P).—Adoption of a calf by a mare was the result of a ruse practiced by Alvin Farrell, owner of the Flying J ranch. "Gypie," pet riding animal, gave birth to twins but both died and the mother became inconsolable. One of the colts was skinned and its hide draped over the calf with the result the mare permitted it to take nourishment from her and the two have become inseparable companions.

Grows "Two-Time" Tulip

Denver (P).—W. J. Martine, Denver gardener, has a strange sort of double tulip in one of his beds. The flower, said to horticulturists to be a rarity, has two distinct centers, and the stem has the appearance of two stalks fastened together.

Weather's Ups and Downs

Topeka, Kas. (P).—Kansas has experienced a maximum temperature range of 156 degrees since records have been maintained here by the weather bureau, a check disclosed. It has been 116 above several times at several Kansas points, and at Lebanon in 1905 the mercury shrank to 40 below.

Services Seven Flies

Randsburg, Calif. (P).—Survivor of seven devastating fires, a tiny wooden building stands here as an official monument to the days when Randsburg boomed almost overnight from a camp of three miners panning "pay dirt" to a roaring, gold-mad town of 5,000 souls. It is the office of Justice of the Peace E. B. Maginnis, Randsburg's fourth settler.

Cats Catch Snakes

Trenton, Mo. (P).—Two yellow Persian cats owned by T. S. Phillips caught and killed six snakes in addition to engaging several other reptiles in combat, their owner reported. The cats also have a fondness for digging moles out of the ground and killing them.

A DISM FOR TODAY

New and different ways to serve old and familiar vegetables interest most homemakers. If the family is a little tired of asparagus buttered and asparagus creamed, try asparagus fritters. Use the following recipe suggested by the New York state college of home economics.

Asparagus Fritters

1 1/2 cups of flour
1/2 teaspoon of salt
3 tablespoons of baking powder
1/2 cup of milk
1 egg
1 cup of cooked asparagus, cut small
Mix and sift the dry ingredients.

Add the milk gradually and then the well-beaten egg. Stir the asparagus into the batter. Drop the mixture by spoonfuls into deep fat heated from 350 to 375 degrees Fahrenheit. Cook until the fritters are a delicate brown, remove them from the fat, and drain on paper towels or manila paper. Serve the fritters with cheese sauce.

For a supper or lunch dinner menu, the college suggests: Asparagus fritters as a main dish, buttered carrots, green peas, whole wheat bread and butter and rhubarb sauce with cookies, with milk for the children.

When Climate Was Warmer

Fossils of corals, snails, etc., found in and around Chesapeake bay would indicate that the climate of this coastal region was a great deal warmer sometime in the last few million years.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS-SOUNDS

By ROBERT COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Speaking of changes in film, there's a lot to be said for the new.

She has returned after nearly a year on a stage tour, and the girl is a grown-up now.

When she first hit Hollywood, some seven years ago, she was 15. She began dancing in short shorts, and her slim blonde beauty and youth won her a good fan following.

Just A Legend

So the legend ran, at any rate. Whichever Anna was, her father or mother, or both, went too. If she had a "date" somewhere, it was an event. She was Hollywood's "nice" girl.

Well, today Anna, having acquired a dash of sophistication, says it was pretty much a legend and no more. She was sheltered, true enough, but she didn't live behind barred windows. She was "practically" always in love with someone—a condition which prevails today, although she names no names.

She handles a cigarette rather expertly now, and sits at a cocktail with several girls. The personal experience helped her gain poise and self-confidence, and now she seems to take a role or two to demonstrate her freedom from the intense shyness. She might even play a wicked woman—once—in show that she could.

An Irish Guest

The back-story of a film that is to be the first of a series of Irish-themed pictures, is being written by a Hollywood writer.

He is an Englishman, I have lived in England, I hope I shall die an Englishman. From the back of the hall in an unimpeachable Scotch accent, came the startling question: "Mon, hae ye no ambition?"

Once, when his publisher gave a tea at which he was supposed to meet certain royal guests, the writer preferred going to the horse races instead. He thought they'd be more interesting. He says they were.

"Barn-Barn-Barn" is coming back to the screen, a serial. And Jack Marshall will be the hero, it is said.

OFFICE CAT

The middle class is the one too smart to take patent medicines and too poor to hire a nerve specialist.

Girl—Last night I was kissed twenty times in twenty minutes.

Girl Friend—By the same man?

Girl—No. He was a changed man after the first kiss.

An English political orator in one of his orations said: "I was born an Englishman, I have lived an Englishman, I hope I shall die an Englishman." From the back of the hall in an unimpeachable Scotch accent, came the startling question: "Mon, hae ye no ambition?"

An amiable old man, a visitor in a Kingston home, was trying to win the friendship of the small daughter of the house.

Visitor—I'll give you a dime for a kiss.

Little One (sweetly)—No, thank you. I can make more money taking castor oil.

Quite a lot of people consider that success depends on luck and pluck—that is, having the luck to find others they can pluck.

Doctor (to absent-minded professor)—The stock has just arrived!

Professor—Sh-h-h! don't bother the wife. She's in the next room.

Lots of times the evil we see in others is merely a reflection of our own thoughts.

Judge—You said you stole because you were hungry?

Accused—Yes, sir.

Judge—But that did not make you take a whole side of bacon?

Accused—You don't know my appetite, Judge.

Neighbor P.—What are you bawling in your back yard?

Neighbor H.—Just replanting some of my garden seeds—if it's any business of yours.

Neighbor P.—It looks more like one of my chickens than seeds.

Neighbor H.—Well, the seeds are inside the chicken.

In these days of kitchenettes and beauty parlors, we don't suppose women can as much fruit as they used to, but the divorce records show that they are canning more lemons than they ever did.

A four-year-old boy, on being asked by a lady visiting in the city, what his name was, replied "Junior."

Lady—Have you no other name?

Boy—No.

Lady—What is your father's name?

Boy—Daddy.

Lady—Has he no other name?

Boy—No.

Lady—Then what does your mother call him?

Boy—Fathead.

Good intentions can wind an alarm clock but it takes will to get out of bed on a cold morning.

He had persisted in calling on his sweetheart even after she warned him about her father's opposition to boy friends. This particular evening they had been planning an elopement—but suddenly the room was flooded with light, and there stood father, glowering and puffing at the terrified young caller.

Father (bellowing)—Who are you?

Young Man (gulping and turning pale)—But the color returned to his face suddenly, and, rising to his feet)—I'm her brother.

After keeping books on the matter for a couple of weeks, we find that we get just about as much advice as we give. And the quality is about the same.

The Natchez Trace

Back in pioneer days when the first boatmen made their way with their crude produce-laden craft down the Cumberland, the Tennessee, the Ohio and the Mississippi to New Orleans the Natchez Trace played a large part, says Literary Digest. This was an overland route of about 550 miles, the merest trace through woods and swamps from Nashville to Natchez. It ran through country that is now Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi.

Who's there? Puffy whispers. It's all dark inside.

He peers in the truck with his eyes open wide.

Then up to the door steps a little pig girl.

All dressed up in pink with her hair in a curl.

At The Theatres

Today

Kingston: Thirty Day Princess
Some of the wise boys who tell not but scheme all day get together and launch a bond issue with a make-believe princess as the inspiration. The idea, from the pen of Clarence Budington Kelland, works well on the screen, and this little adventurous comedy proves likable and exciting drama. Sylvia Sidney is given an excellent part to portray after a series of mediocre films, and she has a grand time in the role of the make-believe princess. Gary Grant, Edward Arnold, Vince Barnett and Henry Stephenson are in the supporting cast. There are bits of comedy in this show, some real excitement, and plenty of romance for the sentimentalists.

Orpheum: "I Loved You Wednesday"
The story of a dancing lady and her lover is the plot structure of the first feature. She learns about men as fast as she loves them over, and another finally makes her happy. Warner Baxter, Elsie Landi, Miriam Jordan and Victor Jory are featured. "King of the Wild Horses" Laid against a background of desert scenery, this story of a horse is interesting drama. Rex, the wonder horse, proves his intelligence with some capable acting.

Broadway: "I've Got Your Number" and "King for a Night." Telephone company "trouble shooters" are glorified again in this fast moving story of a telephone operator who gets tangled up with racketeers. She is in harsh trouble until her friends, the "trouble shooters," tap the wires and give her help. One of the reasons for the success of this show is its excellent cast. Joan Blondell, Glenda Farrell, Pat O'Brien, Allen Jenkins, and Eugene Pallette are all in important parts. "King for a Night" is the story of a brawling prize fighter who makes good when his sister gets in trouble. Chester Morris and Helen Twelvetrees are starred.

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: "To the Last Man" and "Shadows of Sing Sing." Buster Crabbe, Randolph Scott and Esther Ralston create the action for the first feature, a Zane Grey western drama about feuds, romance and constant trouble. The cast does much to make the play interesting entertainment, and the story, although somewhat changed from the original novel, is exciting enough. "Shadows of Sing Sing" is the story of crime, criminal detention, and prison life. Bruce Cabot and Mary Brian are co-featured.

Broadway: "Wharf Angel"
and "Merry Wives of Reno." The story of a waterfront tough guy is well portrayed by Victor McLaglen in the first feature. He also is somewhat of a scab in the opening part of the film, for he sells out his friend for his own advantage. Later however, he proves himself a real fellow by making a noble sacrifice for the man he once betrayed. The girl in the story is Dorothy Dell, and she is well cast as the young lady who waits and waits for the man she loves. This man is played by Preston Foster, and due to McLaglen's selfish motives, Mr. Foster is a struggling victim of circumstances during most of the play. "Merry Wives of Reno" takes the divorce problem in a light vein. Glenda Farrell heads the cast.

Killing Woodchuck Told by Bureau

If woodchucks would stay in the woods, no farmer would take the trouble to destroy them; but unfortunately, they move out of the woods along the fence rows and into the fields that are growing crops, and cause considerable damage. It has been estimated that one woodchuck located on the border of the bean field will destroy from three to seven dollars' worth of beans that are just coming up.

Woodchuck eradication campaigns conducted by the Farm Bureau several years ago showed that calcium cyanide is the easiest and most humane way to kill woodchucks.

The best way is to put one heaping tablespoonful of calcium cyanide in a little pile at arm's length in each woodchuck hole. Cover the entrance to the hole with a piece of sod. Be careful that no dirt falls on the cyanide because when dirt falls on the calcium cyanide it will not give off so much gas. Furthermore, don't use the calcium cyanide when the ground is very wet. Ordinarily, the damp air inside the woodchuck's hole is just right to make the calcium cyanide gas generate. The best time for your campaign against woodchucks is in May or early June. The gas generated by calcium cyanide forms a curtain around the opening through which the woodchuck must pass to go in or out of his hole. Covering the hole is not absolutely necessary, but shows which woodchucks have been killed, and which are still alive and need another gasing. Woodchucks migrate. So if every farmer in the neighborhood will treat his woodchucks at the same time, the whole job will be done in two days. If only a few farmers do it, the woodchucks will be only a short time before they have moved in and started eating again as they had at first.

Holland Prepared to Use

Water in Event of War

The sea is at one end and the same time Holland's foe and friend, says a correspondent in the Kansas City Star. The ever-present menace of breaching dikes hangs constantly over the heads of the country's plant growers. Perpetual vigilance is a necessity. Without it more than half of Holland's population of 5,000,000 might at any time be swallowed up by the sea.

At the same time, the canals, which have been built in the progress of reclaiming the land, provide Holland with the cheapest and most effective system of transportation. About two-thirds of the country's transportation of goods is by water. As a means of protection against invasion from an outside enemy, the sea also is Holland's most effective ally. In 1672 the armies of France, England and a part of Germany, at war with the republic of the Seven States of the Netherlands, marched on Holland. They would have succeeded in taking the capital but for a flood artificially created to stop the invasion of the enemy. At the beginning of the great European war in 1914, everything had been prepared to flood a part of the country in the event of Holland being compelled to take part in the war.

Leak Develops in Cooper Lake Dam

Superintendent William D. Caslin of the water department drove to Cooper Lake this morning to inspect a leak that has developed in the dam at Cooper's Lake. Superintendent Caslin said that the leak appeared about two weeks ago, but that before repairs were made the water had been allowed to subside. He stated that the leak was not serious.

Rome as It Was in the Days of the Caesars

PAUL BIGOT, member of the Institute of France, constructed this beautiful model of the city of Rome in the time of the Caesars, on a scale 400 times smaller than the actual dimensions of the buildings. At the left is the Circus Maximus, with the Coliseum at the right, above which is the Imperial Forum with the temples of Constantine and Venus. The Tiber follows the edge of the model at the top of the picture, past the Palatine and the Capitol.

The reverse is the side opposite to that which is commonly visible. Usually it is a contrary representation or statement of opinion or fact, and designating that which is contrary to custom, circumstance, or nature.—L'Eclair, Paris.

What a Man Thinks
"If you would really know what a man truly thinks," said El Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "you must come to dinner with him and take the risk of making him angry."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

If you feel sore and sick and the world looks black, don't swallow a dose of calomel, or any other medicine, but get out your bottle of Little Liver Pills. It should give you relief and comfort in ten minutes. You can't get any more of this medicine than your bottle daily.

For they can't do it. They can't make the liver and a more powerful medicine than Little Liver Pills. The reason for your discomfort is the liver. It should give you relief and comfort in ten minutes. You can't get any more of this medicine than your bottle daily.

QUESTION No. 1
"What type of burner should I BUY?"
Our representative won't try to "high-pressure" you into buying one type of oil burner when a different type is what your boiler should have. Why?

QUESTION No. 2
"How much money do I need to buy an oil burner?"
Less than you think. Petro-&Nokol Oil Burners sell for as little as $25 down. Next Fall, you start paying off the balance in monthly installments of as little as $15. TAFJORD SWEEP BY "ROCK-MADE" WAVES

Norway's Worst Disaster in Half a Century.

Washington.—Huge waves, set in motion by tons of falling rock, washed away two fishing hamlets and drowned nearly 50 persons in Tafjord, western Norway, recently. It was one of Norway's worst disasters in half a century, recalling the similar Looe lake tragedy in 1905, when 61 persons lost their lives.

Tafjord is a narrow, stone-ringed finger of water branching off from Storjford, one of the dozen great arms of the sea that penetrate the heart of the Scandinavian peninsula, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

"Wildly picturesque, with bare red and brown cliffs rising almost sheer from black water, Tafjord is a typical example of these deep-water ravines, around the edge of which are generally thin fringes of pebbly beach. Along the beaches a few pine, birch, and elder trees and the typical, sod-roofed cottages of sturdy fishermen find precarious footing.

Unusual Scenery.
"Tourists seldom visit these deep, winding waterways, although they would be rewarded with some of the world's most unusual scenic spectacles if they did. From snow-clad mountain tops and ice fields of the plateau, torrents rush to the cliff-tops, bursting over the rims and plunging headlong into the fjords like long ribbons of silver. When low-hanging fog banks obscure the brink of the cliffs, these dashing waterfalls, like raveled clouds, seem to be dropping from the sky itself.

Tafjord possesses three high waterfalls, two of which come into view as the steamer enters the fjord. The largest, Muldalsfos, drops almost 500 feet (three times the height of Niagara), and is considered one of the finest waterfalls in Norway.

"One reason why Tafjord has few contacts with the outside world is that it is practically inaccessible except by water. Only narrow bridge paths twist up the rocky walls of the fjord and over the plateau to neighboring villages, and these trails can be used only during the mid-summer months. The rest of the year they are blanketed in heavy snow.

"The villages of Tafjord and Fjoera, where the greatest number of fatalities occurred during the recent wave disaster, nestle in a cove at the head of the fjord. Small steamers reach them only once or twice a week with mail and supplies, although many of the natives own fishing boats in which they sail some 50 miles down adjoining fjords to Aalesund, one of Norway's chief cod fishing centers and the nearest large city. Aalesund occupies a few of the 150,000 islands known as the Skjaergaard (Skerry Guard), which fringe the mainland and increase Norway's coast line to 12,000 miles.

Mining and Fishing.

"Practically the only other industry of the region, in addition to fishing, is mining. High on the face of a cliff above Tafjord a British company operates a mine which pours red ore down chutes to vessels waiting to take it to smelters. In the nearby highlands, a little south of Tafjord, however, farmers find pasturage for small herds of cows and goats. In the summer months they drive live stock to these upland meadows and settle down in huts for two or three months of butter-and-cheese making. Flowers and bright green grass often spring up at the very edge of glaciers and snow fields.

"Only a few miles southeast of Tafjord is another narrow finger of salt water that is sometimes visited by big cruise steamers. This is Geiranger Fjord, an S-shaped basin festooned with scores of leaping waterfalls. The inlet is only 11 miles long and from 200 to 400 yards wide, but the mountains soar perpendicularly to heights of 3,000 and 5,000 feet along the gorge, and in some places actually overhang the water.

"Liners visiting this fjord usually anchor long enough to permit tourists to go ashore to Merok village. At Oye, another village near the mouth of Geiranger Fjord, shore parties may experience the thrill of riding in a stolkjaerre, a light, two-wheeled mountain cart which accommodates two passengers in front. The driver perches on a small seat behind and the reins pass between the passengers. The Norwegian fjord horse is an active, hardy little beast, drawing the stolkjaerre smartly along narrow, dusty roads to inland villages that possess many relics of Viking days."

Hymn Singer Trapped

"Gathering at the River"
Chicago.—Police Sgt. Harry Schuller was a boy tenor in a church choir years ago and he knows all the hymns. Recently, as he sat in a restaurant, he heard a dishwasher in the back room singing gayly:

"Shall we gather at the river,
The beautiful, the beautiful,
The river?"

Schuller referred to a police bulletin he carried and went into the kitchen, where he placed Carl Anderson, thirty-six-year-old clerkman of Washington, Conn., under arrest.

"It was that beautiful hymn," Schuller said. "It gave you away, and now you're going back to face a charge of wife and child desertion."

Penguins Good Swimmers

Probably no member of the bird world is as adept at under-water swimming as the penguin, which feeds largely on small crustaceans and fish. The wings of this bird are useless as far as flight is concerned, but make excellent paddles in the water.

The word cathedral is derived from the Greek word cathedra, which means a chair. A church in which is placed the throne or chair of a bishop is called a cathedral.

Gales Back in the Age

What are these red chips and lumps scattered among coarse, white sand in Glacier National park? Those chips were partly hardened mud, torn up and dropped again by waves; but the red lumps seem to have been rolled over and over like snowballs, says Nature Magazine. When storms reach sandy coasts today, they bring up balls of mud like these and drop them on sandy flats near shore. These early "storm rollers" are records of gales that swept the Proterozoic sea.

I was disappointed in that salad I served yesterday. It looked so good, and it tasted so flat.

Perhaps the dressing is to blame. Next time try Swanhoe Mayonnaise. It has flavor.

And here's how she SHOULD have made the salad: 2 tablespoons gelatin, 1/4 cup cold water, 1/4 cup boiling water, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups tuna fish, flaked, 1/2 cup cooked peas, 2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped, 1/2 cup Ivanhoe Mayonnaise. Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water and dissolve. Chill slightly. Add remaining ingredients in order given. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with sliced stuffed olives. Serves 6.

The Darks Have It

New York—Fashion has such a very bad habit of catering to the idle rich and forgetting all about the working girl that it seems as though one should pay tribute to designers this year for having remembered that there were hundreds of fashion-minded women who had to work for their living.

This reason finds the girl who goes to business and maybe commutes too, able to pick and choose among any number of appropriate costumes which will not stamp her as apart from the herd. The sheer, dark ensemble is the perfect solution of her warm weather clothes problem. She may select voile, Swiss, dotted or plain or any one of a host of smart cottons and synthetic materials.

The linen suit gets down to business this season and in any number of enterprising colors and styles. The knitted linens, cords and boucles come to town, too, to attend to their affairs. But while all these priceless possessions enrich a wardrobe, they are still of secondary importance to that debutante among costumes, the sheer, dark, town costume.

The best part of it is, that it's an ageless fashion. The slender young thing may wear it and does, and so may mother and for that matter grandmother too. After all such dresses or jacket costumes offer a refreshing relief from the flowery tropes. They are usually either dotted, striped or cross barred if not plain. Transverse stripes are not for all of us and how those who can wear them well do gloat. The Mexican colors are for the gay girl who really, if she did what she should, would reserve them for her week-ends and out of town wear.

DARK BUT SHEER

(Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild)

Hand-drawn linen with edging of Irish crochet lace provides the elaborating collar for a Woman's frock developed in dotted Swiss, the silhouette giving slenderness through tailoring of inverted pleats in skirt.

Crinkled, Ribbed Weaves With Transverse Stripes

Crinkled and ribbed novelty crepes are still prominent among the rayons featured for exclusive sportswear costume uses. For the summer white crinkled and ribbed crepes are printed transversely with stripes in bright Mexican or Roman colors. This achieves an effect of broken crosswise stripes which is distinctive.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

Simple and Becoming Frock 8221. Women who make their own clothes will appreciate the style and value in the design pictured here. Most of us have to spend a certain amount of time doing housework and need a dress which combines charm with utility as this one does. The cutting and making can be accomplished in a few hours, by following the instructions step by step as they are written.

Printed percale is the first choice for a dress of this type for it is a material which comes in pretty designs and colors and stands up well under much tubbing. Gay buttons and belt buckle to match make a nice trimming.

Designed in sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 38 requires 3 1/2 yards of 35-inch material.

New Jersey State Platforms Announced

Trenton, N. J., May 24 (AP).—The major political parties, announcing today tentative drafts of their New Jersey state platforms, united in opposing additional taxes and in favoring broader powers for the public utility commission, including authority to revise rates immediately.

Neither the Democrats nor Republicans made mention of the sales tax, long a controversial issue, but the Republican tax plank favored "partial substitute" taxes for uncollectible taxes on real estate.

The two parties were also in accord in supporting the recommendations of Governor A. Harry Moore's school survey commission, which urged the system of state school support be revised to guarantee a minimum educational program for each school district.

Continuance of unemployment relief was pledged by both parties, with the Democrats advocating unemployment insurance.

The Democrats, "demanding" that the legislative investigation of alleged political corruption be "prosecuted energetically," said "we condemn the spectacle afforded us in this state whereby judgeships have been trucked to the highest bidder."

The platform drafts, prepared by the resolutions committees, will be submitted to the respective party conventions for adoption when they reconvene Tuesday.

Advertising In The Newspapers Increase

New York, May 24 (AP).—More than 61 per cent of the aggregate advertising appropriation of 351 leading companies in 1933 was spent in newspapers, according to estimates released today by the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

This figure compares with 54.9 per cent spent by these companies in magazine advertising, and 12 per cent in radio broadcast.

The combined 1933 advertising expenditure of the companies reviewed was $112,440,000 in newspapers, $49,898,626 in magazines, and $22,368,298 in radio broadcast. The survey points out that figures from one year to the next are not exactly comparable, due to changes in the companies studied and in the number of figures available, but accords that "there is a marked strengthening of the newspaper's position in 1933 when pictured in contrast to the estimates for 1932."

"This is indicated," the survey continues, "in the number of trade groups which spent more money in newspapers than in other mediums, and in the tendency of advertisers to concentrate in newspapers exclusively."

Of 32 trade groups listed in this study, newspapers are found to be the preferred medium in 26. In 1932, of 30 trade groups listed, newspapers were the preferred medium in only 19.

Excavations at Pompeii
Pompeii was buried under lava from an eruption of Mount Vesuvius more than 2000 years ago. It was the most beautiful city in Italy. From the ruins scholars have learned much of ancient civilization. Archaeological expeditions from almost every country have visited the site of Pompeii, but it was not until the most extensive excavations have been carried on under auspices of the Italian government.

New Store Opens At Rose and Gorman's

Many New Features Highly Praised
By The Hundreds of People Who Visited It at The Opening Today.
That the new "downstairs store," which had its grand opening today, in what was formerly known as "the basement" at the Rose and Gorman store, is a genuine innovation and not merely a temporary switching around of merchandise, or just a new department, was apparent to everyone of the many hundreds of people who visited it today and commented upon it in most flattering terms.

The new store is a complete store in itself and not merely a duplication or extension of the main floor store. The merchandise is new and different and intended to meet the demands of the public in a more complete way than was possible heretofore.

The color scheme is most pleasing and harmonious. It has been described as a "symphony in blue," and perhaps it would be just as well to let it go at that, saying that various tones of blue have been used, with decorative lines of silver. The scheme is carried out throughout the entire store and leaves a generally pleasing effect without detracting from the merchandise displayed.

An entire new lighting system has been installed, with lights specially designed by the Hollywood Art Studios of New York, the effect being not only artistic but giving a most satisfactory and scientific distribution of light.

One of the most prominent features of the new downstairs store is the "Home of Fashion," which extends across the entire rear of the store and back of which have been built in numerous individual fitting rooms. It is devoted to the display of a large new line of ladies' dresses.
Extending from it along the sides are departments devoted to millinery, ladies' and children's hosiery and similar goods.

There are two separate departments devoted to refrigeration—one of them the Rex Cole health kitchen, featuring General Electric machines and the other displaying Frigidaire.
Other departments show dinnerware,
gas and electric ranges and all kinds of kitchenware and house furnishing goods. One of the new departments is given over to men's and boys' wear. There are numerous other departments, all going to make up a complete store.

One of the first things that greeted visitors this morning was the very handsome floral basket, a gift from the employees of the store.

Mr. Gorman expressed himself as very much pleased with the way the new store was being received. He said that nothing that Rose and Gorman have ever done has brought forth so much favorable comment as had been heard from those who had visited the store within a store," this morning.

Beginning of Letter "F" in Earliest Alphabets

The letter F in English is described phonetically as representing a labio-dental unvoiced sound. It is the same symbol exactly as that of the Latin alphabet; but in the Greek alphabet, from which the Latin was taken, the symbol has disappeared. It once was a part of the Greek alphabet, however.
The Egyptian hieroglyphs, like other hieroglyph symbols, an ideograph from which were developed several of our letters, according to the opinion of some scientists. The serpent sign, they assert, was the original of our letters
F, Y, U, V, and W.

There is a newer theory about the beginnings of alphabets which credits the Sinai inscriptions with being the forerunner of the Phoenician alphabet, from which the Greek and Latin letters were developed.

It is claimed that Sinai script was the first writing in which a system of symbols representing sounds was used.
The theory, however, has not been universally accepted by scientists, although the belief that modern alphabets were developed from the Phoenician symbols is generally held. In the Phoenician alphabet the symbol corresponding to the letter F represented Van. In Greek the value of F was Wa, a bilabial voiced sound. The present value of F, adopted from the Latin alphabet, was a gradual development.—Chicago Tribune.

Continent of Atlantis Was Surrounded by Sea

The lost continent of Atlantis was entirely surrounded by sea. It existed, supposedly, between the Straits of Gibraltar and the Mexican Gulf. It had been a great empire of tall, fair-haired, blue-eyed men and women. Alleged historical accounts agree that it was inhabited by supermen who lived peacefully and happily over a long period of years. The arts of civilization of the present race were acquired, according to historians, from this lost race before it vanished beneath the sea. A description of the lost continent has been furnished by Plato.

"The whole country," he relates,
"was very lofty and precipitous on the side of the sea, but the country immediately about and surrounding the city was a level plain, itself surrounded by mountains; it was smooth and even, but of an oblong shape, extending in one direction 3,000 stadia, and going up the country from the sea through the center of the island 2,000 stadia; the whole region of the island lies toward the south and is sheltered from the north. The surrounding mountains were celebrated for their number and size and beauty, in which they exceeded all that are to be seen anywhere."

The machine is worshipped in atheist Russia, where the proletariat is being taught its power in fashioning a communistic society. Here is a Russian worker with machine units, symbolic of the new day under the soviet regime.

Servant or master—what of the machine today? Is it showing workers out of jobs or providing additional work and more leisure? How has the unemployment problem affected the nations' attitude toward machinery? How are the major countries trying to cope with this problem? Is the emphasis on more machinery, and still more? Is there a revolt against whirling wheels and meshing gears? Is the answer of fascist Italy and communist Russia different from that of democratic America? These are some of the questions considered in a series of nine articles from as many countries, of which this is the first.

1. RUSSIA.

By S. P. RICHARDSON.
Moscow (AP).—If anything may be said to have taken the place of religion in atheist Soviet Russia, it is the machine.

In contrast to steps taken in some other countries to restrict the use of machinery and its products, the soviet government is bending its energy to bring about wider utilization of every branch of technology. It is speeding its effort to complete the Herculean task of converting the world's first socialistic state from a backward agricultural nation to one of advanced industrial power.

Still Short of Needs.

The country still is woefully short of all it needs so that it continues in the second five-year plan, as in the first, to rely on the machine to lift it higher into the realm of mass production. By the end of 1937, when the second five-year period expires, it is proposed to increase by 227 per cent the production of the machine building industry alone, compared with the output at the end of 1932, when it amounted roughly to 6,000,000,000 rubles annually.

This includes machinery for heavy industry, transport and agriculture but not automobiles and tractors, the increased output of which is planned on a similarly large scale.

"A Powerful Weapon."

More emphasis is laid on the machine here today than on any other subject, with the possible exception of communism.

The younger generation is being taught that the machine, unlike most other capitalistic institutions, is the most necessary and powerful weapon that can be wielded in fashioning a communistic society.

Hand in hand with the constant official pressure for more machines goes the exhortation to the proletariat to master technical knowledge so that it in time will be able to operate the machines efficiently.

Every school places emphasis on some technical subject, and most young children, girls as well as boys, now want to be engineers when they grow up.

Symbolic of the importance attached to the machine in Russia is the fact that the word itself has been added to the Russian vocabulary. It is pronounced exactly as in English except that the "e" is sounded like an "a."

Naval Surgeons Await Arrival of Destroyer

Los Angeles, May 24 (AP)—Naval surgeons who made a 1,000-mile emergency flight to aid William Albert Robinson, stricken sea adventurer, er, waited today in lonely Tagus Cove in the Galapagos Islands for the arrival of the U. S. destroyer Hale.

After examining Robinson as soon as they arrived alongside his small ketch, Svaa, late yesterday, Lieut. Commander Rollo W. Hutchinson and Lieut. Oscar D. Yarbrough, expressed the opinion the adventurer's appendix had broken, spreading peritonitis.

In wireless messages relayed here, they said they considered an immediate operation inadvisable and would await the arrival of the Hale which left the Canal Zone about the same time their two naval seaplanes took off for the islands.

The surgeons planned to put the adventurer aboard the war craft and speed him back to Balboa, operating enroute if necessary.

Whited Sepulchres

Whited sepulchre means a hypocrite, something or somebody who is not what it or he appears. The phrase occurs in the Bible in Matthew 23:27:
"Whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones."

Hurling an Old Game

Hurling dates back to the times when Gaelic athletes engaged in contests before Queen Tialie and her court, on the plains of Tara. The game is said to be the first of all games played with a ball and stick.
Baseball, hockey and all similar sports have developed out of hurling, but the old game itself is just as exciting as its modern offspring.

EDITORIAL

THERE has lately been a disgusting amount of loose talk about the land over the personality and exploits of a certain motion picture actress. To those concerned chiefly, as we all should be with the higher and finer things of life, this woman's modulating hips, indecent exposure, and vulgar expressions can only be revolting.

Her popularity and her possible influence upon feminine manners, moreover, constitute a menace to home life in this country. American women during the past few years have learned to maintain a slender and modest appearance. If this trend is reversed, we are likely to see the effect upon standards of decency and right living.

J. LUCAS DOAKES,
Editor.

Blanktown, March 23, 1934.

My dear Mr. Editor Doakes:

I have just finished reading what you wrote in your paper about "a certain motion picture actress," and feel called upon to take my pen in hand. Now, Mr. Doakes, you're a big important man and I'm only a woman who keeps house and tries to be a good wife. But when you say that this lady does no good in the world, only evil, I have to protest. I know different.

My Timothy and I have been married for twenty years and we're both forty-one now. Well, a woman, you know, hasn't all of her girlish charms at that age, and a man just about then seems to get some kind of funny romantic notions like he had at twenty. At least, that's how it was with Tim and me. I guess he began to look at me a little critically, or something, and saw that I wasn't quite the slender damsel he longed for.

Anyhow, pretty soon I heard rumors that he was running around with some red-headed woman who wore a size 14 and looked the same from all angles. I never saw her, but that was the description I got from the people who are always glad to let you know about such things.

I didn't do anything because I didn't know anything to do. He kept right on, going out oftener and staying away longer all the time. Finally I began to think it would have to end in a divorce or separation, which would also have been the end of life for me.

Then, one night he said, "Let's go to a movie." We always did that when he wasn't stepping out. He didn't seem to like being alone with me for an evening any more. So we went down to the Superba without bothering to find out first what was there. Well, it turned out to be a picture with this actress you wrote about. I'd never even heard of her before, and I don't think Tim had.

When it was over he said, "Let's stay for the second show." We did, and then half the night Tim kept me awake raving about her. That, he said, was the way a woman should look and be.

Next day I thought a lot about it and suddenly got an idea. I hunted around, found my corset, and put it on under the slinkiest dress I had. The effect was pretty good, and even better after I'd cut four inches off the gown's neck in front. The curves were really surprising, but I won't go into details that wouldn't interest you.

When Tim came in that night, I was standing by the fireplace in the corset and the dress and about a dollar's worth of dime store jewelry and with my hair piled up curly-like. He just stopped dead and stared for about half a minute. Then he almost jumped across the room and said, "Good gosh, honey, you sure look like a million! Don't think I was slow seeing it, but you floored me so I couldn't think what to say."

"Oh, that's all right," I told him, trying to wiggle around a little, "I like a guy what takes his time."

Well, that's about all. Tim's stopped going out, and he wants to take a second honeymoon this summer. I guess I've written an awful lot about things that don't concern you, but I wanted you to know that the lady you called a wrecker of homes actually saved one.

Yours very truly,
MRS. T. C. M.

The Blanktown Daily Courier

ANNOUNCEMENT

March 27, 1934.

Mr. J. Lucius Doakes, editor-in-chief of the Courier, has been granted an indefinite leave of absence due to the delicate condition of his wife following her recent arrest and subsequent removal to the Psychopathic hospital.

Mrs. Doakes, it is alleged, placed in a local post box two parcels containing homemade bombs, one addressed to a famous screen star, and the other to Mrs. Winifred C. Martin of this city. The publishers of the Courier feel certain that this unfortunate incident will prove to have been all a ghastly mistake. It is their firm belief that Mrs. Doakes, charming and petite, is a lady of the highest social and moral standing, and that her removal to the psychopathic hospital, absolutely no motive for the act has been discovered.

LARGE ATTENDANCE FOR POULTRY MEETING

Due to the exceptional program for the meeting of the Ulster County Poultry Club Friday evening, a larger attendance than usual is expected. Dr. Kent of Chicago, chief poultry research expert for the Quaker Oats Company, will be the principal speaker. The meeting starts at 8:15 on Friday at the court house in Kingston. C. H. Weidner, president of the club, will preside. In addition to Dr. Kent, Carl Delgren, master of the Mid-Hudson Egg Auction, who also has charge of the newly organized Live Poultry Auction at Monticello, will give reports on both auctions. S. L. Althouse, editor of the "Poultry Item," is also expected to be present and take part in the program. John Miller, a director of the egg auction, will give a report on the proposed egg code and also on some recent changes in the egg grading regulations.

OFFICIAL POULTRY MEETING TO MEET HERE

The district meeting for members of the New York State Official Poultry Breeders Association will take place on Saturday, May 26. It will begin with luncheon at 11 o'clock in the Straymont Hotel. Charles H. Weidner of West Stockport, director of the Hudson Valley Chapter, expects that all members of the association, and several very important matters are to be discussed.

SPECIAL FRUIT MEETING STUDIES WINTER INJURY

A special fruit meeting to discuss winter injury to fruit trees with Dr. A. J. Heinicke of Cornell as the principal speaker has been arranged by the Farm Bureau, for Friday evening, May 25. It will be held at Westervelt Clarke's farm near Milton, starting promptly at 8:45. All fruit growers of Ulster county are invited to attend. C. C. DuMont, president of the Farm Bureau, will act as chairman of the meeting. In addition to Dr. Heinicke, Dr. P. J. Chapman and Dr. J. M. Hamilton will appear on the program. As the season progresses, evidence of more serious injury to fruit trees is developing than was expected. The severe cold of last winter has killed or severely hurt many of the Baldwin and Greengage apple trees, particularly those that bore a crop last year. Now the question which faces many growers is what they are going to do with the winter injured apple trees? What are the best steps to take to speed the recovery of partially killed trees? What varieties to plant as replacements? These and other fruit growing problems will be discussed at the meeting Friday night.

Queen of May

JANET GOODSSELL

Janet Goodsell, who will be Queen of May at the annual spring festival of the Kingston High School on Friday, was born in Bayonne, N. J., on September 7, 1916. She came to Kingston when she was two years old, and attended and graduated from the Immanuel Lutheran grammar school.

Miss Goodsell has an excellent record as a student at the high school. She is fond of sports, was a member of this year's championship girls' basketball team. Her favorite outdoor sport is tennis.

WILTZYCK GOLF CLUB WILL BE APPRECIATED

Editor, Kingston Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.

I notice from your news columns that the new Wiltzyck Golf Club, recently organized by Kingston people, and located on Hurler Avenue just outside the city limits, is to be opened Sunday afternoon, May 27th, when two match games will be played and the course inspected by all interested. Mayor Heinemann and other city officials will also attend the opening.

I wonder if the people of Kingston appreciate how much of an asset this new Golf Club may turn out to be to this community. Kingston and the surrounding territory attracts a large number of visitors, tourists, overnight guests and strangers each season from spring until fall and until now there have been no facilities for those of them who play golf to indulge in their favorite pastime, unless they wished to drive many miles from Kingston to either Palenville, Woodstock or Mohonk golf courses. Many of these visitors would have spent a longer time in Kingston if a good golf course, near at hand and where they felt they would be welcomed, could be recommended to them.

I understand that the Wiltzyck Golf Club will welcome all visitors to the course and that strangers in this vicinity finding time for a game of golf will find a hearty welcome at the club. Local people who only find time for an occasional game of golf will also find themselves welcome at all times. Those who never before played the game will find it easy and enjoyable to learn on this beautiful sloping course so near the heart of the city. Hurler Avenue now has a fine pavement right to the entrance of the course.

The people who have made this course possible, among whom Lewis Brown and Tom Goodman have done fine work, should be encouraged by

Change Schedule Of Ash Collection

Superintendent James Norvan of the board of public works announced today that ashes and rubbish on the following streets will be collected on Mondays instead of Tuesdays beginning next week: Washington Avenue, Warren Street, Linden Avenue, Delta Place, Donovan Place, Conway Place and Hewitt Place.

On Growing Population

The following births have been reported to the board of health: Mr. and Mrs. George Lowrey of 49 Newkirk Avenue, a daughter, Gertrude Marion.
Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Playford of 29 Ravine Street, a son, Harry Lee.
Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Burns of 48 Pine Street, a son, Wayne Lee, at Kingston Hospital.

Rank of Stars

An heir-apparent to the actual who will succeed it be outlined in present ruler. An heir-presumptive to one whose succession to the throne may be broken by the birth of one nearer akin to the ruler.

Early Postal Rates Were Based on Bulk of Letter

Today the postage stamp is such a necessity that few people realize in what manner the payment of postage was handled in early days. Postal rates were based on the bulk of the letter and on the distance it had to be carried, and if it was forwarded an additional fee was required. Prepayment was not compulsory and letters ordinarily arrived "collect," a condition promoted by enquet on the ground that a prepaid letter implied that the addressee was unable to pay. In large offices the mail was marked with handstamps provided by the postmaster.

There was the "town-mark" with changeable date line, rating stamps in the ordinary values, as 5, 10, etc., in other handstamps to mark exceptional letters "paid" or "free," as required. In small offices these conveniences were missing except for the "town-mark," and letters were endorsed by hand and in many cases the dates were written in the town-mark. The earliest handstamps all of the postal markings were hand written. Among collectors the "pre-stamp" period includes everything down to the adoption of "amps," and the covers are known as "amp-stamp" covers. For the next few years until prepayment by stamps was compulsory, the covers without stamps are called "stampless covers." These covers are not collected to any extent by general collectors, but are a necessary part for a specialist who is showing the postal history of a country or of a state or town.

Public Works Board Asks Cooperation In Ash Collection

To improve the service to the public, the Public Works Board has decided to ask the cooperation of the householders in the collection of ashes.

All ashes should be placed in metal or wooden barrels, not larger than the above, and should be placed in the street in front of the house.

Yard sweepings, garden refuse, etc., should be placed in containers as above and not dumped on the curb or street.

The Public Works Board is anxious to collect refuse promptly, efficiently and economically, at the same time keeping the streets clean.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON
WHAT'S IN THE JOB
THERE is no better job in the world than looking after children. I don't want any more or governor's job.

The woman who said this went on to mention the various details involved in the care of children. She omitted none, from the petty chores of inspecting finger nails to the necessity for keeping after a child to do homework or practice on the piano.

And in her viewpoint it was all wearing, exhausting, repetitious drudgery that must be repeated by all but a type of mind without imagination.

That reminds me of an old story. You may have heard it, but it's a good story anyway. It's a story of three stone cutters who were working on a large block of granite. A stranger who happened to be passing asked the first cutter what he was doing.

"I'm cutting stone," answered the man. He asked the second.

"I'm building a cathedral," he replied. But the third answered, his face alight:

"I'm building a cathedral." There was perhaps no damage done in the operation of cutting stone by the attitudes of the first two workmen. The harm involved was to themselves. But those to whom is entrusted the care of children have in their hands tremendous power for good and harm.

The material which they will help to mold is precious beyond the worth of all the cathedrals in the world. Only those who have a creative love for their work and pleasure in it, only those who see in even the petty details the vision of something they are building should ever be permitted into that great sphere of responsibility.

The care of children does indeed require a certain type of mind. But not a mind without imagination. On the contrary, the most important qualification for the woman who would acquire herself creditably in caring for a child is an unusual quality of imagination—the ability to realize the important implications in apparently trivial tasks, the cathedral of character that she is building out of the stone of daily routine.

The care of a child requires a better person than many types of work that are more varied and far better paid. It requires one with fine qualities of heart and mind, with the artistry to color her daily work with an ideal. Of course, such nurses are rare; such people are rare. My child had the good fortune to know such a nurse, to whom let this be an appreciation. Her name was Emma Wenzel.

Monaca's Oldest Structure
The Old Fort in Havana, known as La Fuerza, is the oldest structure in America. The walls show the effect of many bombardments. It was supposed that De Soto's wife watched the column daily for his return. She died during one of her long vigils. The Columbus cathedral is reported to have once contained the remains of the historic navigator.

Black Frost
"Black frost" is a term originally used in reference to a frost of killing frosts at a temperature above the freezing point and not accompanied by snow or heavy frost deposits. Such frosts usually turn the exposed vegetation black, but this is not supposed to have gone in its name. This term is ignored by the weather bureau which designates such frosts as light, heavy or a fog.

Goodman Loses Today Brand Whitlock, Once In Prestwick Golf U. S. Ambassador to Belgium, Dies in France

American Open Champion and Betting Favorite in Britain by Eng. Johnson in Fifth Round of British Amateur Championship.

Prestwick, Scotland, May 24.—Johnny Goodman, American open champion and betting-odds favorite, was defeated in the fifth round of the British amateur golf championship today by Leslie Garnett, an Englishman, by 3 and 1.

The surprising defeat of the young Omaha star stripped the championship of the first two favorites. Jack McLean, crack Scottish Walker Cup player, was defeated this afternoon by James Wallace, an unemployed carpenter, by one up.

The only Americans left in the championship were George T. Dunlap, Jr., U. S. amateur champion, and W. Lawson Little, San Francisco hunk, who are among the eight survivors for quarter-finals to be played tomorrow morning. They are in opposite halves of the draw. Dunlap won two matches today, defeating Roger Wethered, one up, in the third round, and R. S. Walker, Aberdeen University student, by 4 and 3 this afternoon. Little's victims were Lionel Munro, 47-year-old Irishman, who last by 3 and 2, and Gordon Peters of Glasgow, who yielded 4 and 3.

Miss Marble was trailing 4-1 in games when she fainted just after carrying a double fault and had to be revived in the dressing room but the physician who attended her declined to let her return to play.

Miss Goldschmidt defeated Miss Babcock 6-3, 6-4 and Miss Palfrey went down 3-6, 1-6.

Two doubles matches complete the series.

turned to Toledo to begin active practice.

It was not long before politics engaged him. He was known as a disciple, particularly in political life, of "Golden Rule" Jones, his famous predecessor as Toledo mayor, and throughout his service at the city hall Whitlock was noted for his efforts in behalf of the obscure portion of humanity. His successive elections to the mayoralty were on an independent ticket.

His political career at Toledo was almost overshadowed by his success as an author, for during the time of his service as mayor, he produced a number of popular books, including "The Thirteenth District," a novel based on city politics, "Her Infinite Variety," and "The Happy Average." Besides a great number of magazine articles dealing with his views on social problems, he was in wide demand as a lecturer on these problems for which his political experience had peculiarly fitted him to testify.

Police Puzzled By Angles In Gandy Death

San Francisco, May 24 (AP)—Plans to exhume from a pauper's grave the body of Arne V. Gandy, 22, son of a New York and Tennessee, N. J., artist, were made today as police renewed efforts to solve the mystery of the youth's death.

Pulled from San Francisco Bay January 11 by a diver, the body was identified yesterday through fingerprints.

A coroner's autopsy failed to disclose any mark of violence. The body was buried in Potter's field after lying for two weeks unidentified in the morgue.

Tide of Battle Turns To Bolivian Forces

La Paz, Bolivia, May 24 (AP)—The tide of battle has turned toward Bolivia in two sectors of the Gran Chaco, the war office claimed today.

A statement asserted Paraguayan forces were in full flight through the dense forests in the "Canada" and "strongest" sectors, where battles began May 19.

The war office described the victory as of transcendental importance in the Chaco campaign.

Paraguayan military officials at Asuncion described engagements in the "Canada" and "strongest" sectors of the Chaco as Bolivian efforts to provoke the Paraguayan army into launching prematurely the impending attack on Fort Bolivian, major Bolivian stronghold.

Rienzos Score Second Victory, Defeating S. & K. Nine, 8-3

The Rienzo A. C. scored its second triumph in the Downtown Twilight League at Hasbrouck Park Wednesday evening, defeating the Schenck & Kelly combination, 8-3. The victory was the first since the team's defeat of the S. & K. team, as shown by the score which showed 11 men left on bases. The Rienzo team could have done better in scoring the runs. Nine of their men were left stranded. There were errors galore, the S. & K. committing six and Rienzo five.

Al Long featured for the S. & K. with a triple in the first inning. He scored a run, sending Lindhurst home. Hank Krum smacked out a double for the Rienzo in the second inning, collecting two runs.

Eddie Baker did the pitching for the Schenck, striking out nine batters. He gave six hits and passed seven men. "Puck" Davis on the Rienzo hit struck out four, gave five walks and was touched for seven hits.

How Rienzo Scored.

When the Rienzo went to bat in the first inning, Al Flanagan singled to right. Kreppel reached first on L. Wenzel's error. Flanagan going to third. Al scored on a passed ball and Kreppel counted on the same play when Lindhurst dropped the ball after he had tagged the runner.

In the third the A. C. collected two more. A base on balls to Flanagan, Kreppel's single, Krum's double to right and Steigewald's single accounted for them.

The fourth saw Bouchard reach first on Phil Kelly's error, advance on an infield out and score when L. Wenzel booted Kreppel's grounder.

In the fifth the Rienzo brigade added another run. Steigewald singled to left, reached third on an error by Lucas and scored while the second baseman was throwing out Bouchard.

Five bases on balls in the sixth forced in Kreppel. Flanagan was caught stealing and the others were stranded on pop-ups by their mates.

Runs for S. & K.

The Schenck & Kelly team scored one in the first inning. Lindhurst singled and Al Long drove him home with a triple to right.

A single by Scully, a walk and a single by Lucas in the second gave the S. & K. their second run.

Scoring for this nine ended then until the seventh. Lindhurst opened this frame with a single, raced to second as the left fielder juggled the ball and scampered home on "Had" Barrett's single to left.

Last evening's victory made the second for the Rienzo. They defeated the Mayflowers, 5-1, last week. And the result for the S. & K. was its second loss. They bowed to the Mayflowers, 9-2, in the opening game of the league on Tuesday, May 8.

Game Tonight

Tonight's clash will bring together the Hercules and Seneca. The Hercules have a victory to their credit over the Ulster Provision Association. The Senecas haven't won yet.

Maroon And White In DUSO Track Meet At Newburgh Saturday

Saturday, the DUSO track meet will be held at Newburgh with schools competing from cities and villages throughout the four counties that make up the DUSO League.

Dutchess, Ulster, Sullivan and Orange. There will be a series of events, the city events and the village events. Kingston will compete in the city events along with Newburgh, Port Jervis, Middletown, Liberty, Monticello and Ellenville.

The DUSO meet which is held annually at Academy Field, Newburgh, the last Saturday of May draws the pick of the athletes on the track teams of all of the schools in the DUSO loop and is usually the most interesting scholastic track meet in the Hudson valley.

To win in any event, makes the winner the DUSO champion in that sport. At the meet held a year ago, Walt Watts was the only Maroon and White man to come in first, winning the 440 yard dash, defending his title.

The school winning the meet receives a silver cup denoting DUSO supremacy in track. Newburgh won the cup a year ago and is a strong favorite to repeat this year. The individual winners of each race receive bronze medals.

The League leading Yankees ran into a 14 to 2 shellacking at the hands of the Chicago White Sox, their sixth defeat in seven games in the west. The defeat was less costly than the others, as the Red Sox halted Cleveland, 7-5.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Our British "golfing" "recesses" and the term "golf" may be used in the same sense that "golf" is used in the ball batsman refers to an opposing pitcher as a "golf" because he hits his offerings freely—did not need the testimony of another Walker cup travelling to be convinced that they are no match for our top-notch amateurs.

Seven previous meetings at team play attended to that and the eighth successive Walker cup triumph for our lads simply retells the old story.

As the Hon. Michael Scott lamented: "We will not have a chance to test our Americans as long as they insist on playing their best amateurs."

If the British think they were subjected to a demonstration of our talent, however, let them take note of the fact that while the nine Walker cup players were in England no less than 27 other American amateurs qualified to participate in the United States open championship in sectional trout with professional rivals. Including the members of the touring team, this means that 30 amateurs—one-fifth of the entire field—will compete in the open tournament at the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia, June 7-8.

A "Second" Cup Team.

Consider the fact that the present open champion of the United States, Johnny Goodman, is on the amateur side of the fence, that players like Johnny Fischer and George Dunlap have held their own with the professionals repeatedly at medal play, and you have some further idea of the strength of our simon-pure ranks and sufficient reason for their consistent ability to rout the British.

I doubt very much if the British Walker cup team could have held its own against a second and entirely different American line-up, consisting for example of Albert (Scotty) Campbell, Rodney Bliss, Charles Kocsis, Charley Yates, Gene Homans, Rudy Knepper, Walter Emery, Johnny Lehman and Jack Munger or Billy Howell. Most of these young players qualified for the open with two rounds in the low 70's.

Scotty Campbell tallied 142 for the 36-hole qualifying test and Howard Creel, a Denver amateur whose name is unfamiliar to national tournament play, scored 143.

Difference In Amateurs.

England's top-notch amateurs, with a few exceptions, do not figure in stroke competition. Roger Wethered once tied Jock Hutchison for the British open at St. Andrews but lost in the playoff. Cyril Tolley has been a victor in the French open and at times uncorked some fine medal performances but it is the rare exception when a British amateur gives the professionals a run for the honors in open competition.

On the other hand, Francis Omet, Jerome Travers, Chick Evans, Bob Jones and Johnny Goodman, all amateurs, have been victorious in American open competition. They have accounted, in fact, for eight U. S. open crowns, of which Master Jones captured four, besides winning the British open three times.

Goodman in Prestwick Golf Battle Beats H. G. McCallum Today

American Open Champion Advances to Fifth Round by Winning Tenth 18-Hole Play. One Up—Little and Dunlop Also Win.

Prestwick, Scotland, May 24 (AP)—Johnny Goodman, American open champion, today led two other competitors into the fifth round of the British amateur golf championship by defeating Hugh G. McCallum, 42-year-old Scotsman, one up, in a tense 18-hole battle.

Goodman and McCallum were all even at the halfway mark and the veteran Scot moved into a two up lead at the 15th. They halved the 16th and Goodman apparently faced certain defeat with McCallum down two.

But Goodman wasn't beaten yet. Digging his spiked shoes deep into this strenuous seaside course, the Omaha star launched a counter rally, winning the 17th and squaring the match at the 18th where he laid McCallum an unnegotiable stymie.

That was all the encouragement Johnny needed and he ended the match on the first extra hole. It was the first time the American champion had been closely pressed.

Goodman closed out the match in a sensational manner, holing a fairly long putt for a birdie three.

The other Americans to join Goodman in the round before the quarter-final were W. Lawson Little, young San Francisco husky, and George Terry Dunlop, Jr., American amateur titleholder.

Little took the measure of Lionel Munn, 47-year-old Irishman, by 2 and 2, but the Pacific coast star was forced to play his best after they turned all even. Starting at the 10th, Little won four consecutive holes to clinch the issue.

Dunlop barely edged out Roger Wethered, veteran former British champion, in a nip and tuck match that ended on the 18th green. Successive birdies on the 15th and 16th holes definitely turned the tide in Dunlop's favor after he was one down at the 14th.

Jesse Guilford, Bostonian, who won the American title in 1921, was eliminated by Jack McLean, the crack Scottish star, and second favorite to Goodman in the betting odds. McLean defeated Guilford by 4 and 3.

Dunlop's fifth round opponent was to be R. S. Walker, Scottish universities' champion, while Little was matched against Gordon Peters, 25-year-old Glasgow star, who has been knocking at the door of the championship for several years, but never has won an important tournament.
